THE SAMOAN CONFERENCE.

[From Our San Francisco Correspondent.]

The sub-committee of the Samoan Conference, has decided that the Municipal Council of Apia shall comprise six members—Germany, England and the United States, each to appoint a member, and the other three members to be elected by residents of Apia. This decision displeased the British Commissioners, who call it Phelps' compromise.

Phelps, although not a member of the sub-committee, was asked to attend its last meeting.

The fourth session of the Samoan Conference was held on May 18th.

The meeting was called to order by Herbert Bismarck, who presides at all the meetings, in accordance with the established custom that the highest representative of the government of the country in which a conference is held shall preside.

The proceedings consisted chiefly in listening to the reports of the various sub-committees which have been holding daily sessions ever since the Conference met. At these meetings the real work of the Conference has been transacted, and as nearly as can be learned the American Commissioners have succeeded in carrying every important point they set out to obtain. Indeed, so prevalent is this feeling in Berlin that the Berlin press and other influential papers in Germany complain of the success of the Americans.

While the greatest secrecy in regard to the proceedings is maintained, and heretofore nothing much beyond the fact that meetings have been held was known, it can now be stated that, excepting the question of indemnity for German sailors killed and beheaded by the Samoans, and one or two other minor points, the work of the commission is over. It is thought that the restoration of Malietoa to power is assured, and that the plan for a tripartite government in Samoa, for which the American Commissioner contested against the German plan for one representative selected by the three powers, will surely be put into effect. It is also more than likely that the commission has decided in favor of the absolute independence of Samoa as soon as the people there demonstrate their ability to go alone.

The indemnity question is yet to come up. It may prolong the meeting some weeks, but this is believed to be the only point on which there is likely to be a serious contest. The question of Klein's connection with the affair in which German sailors were killed has never come up, nor is there any likelihood of its doing so. During the past meetings of the conference and committees, the only points of difference have been between the German and American commissioners, the attitude of the English members being neutral. Their influence has generally been cast with a view of settling the question as expeditiously as possible. They have, however, been strongly in favor of having a Protestant for King of Samoa, which is thought to indicate their preference for Malietoa, who was trained in an English Protestant college.

The most important work of the conference has been done by what is known as the working commission, consisting of Dr. Kramel, Assistant Secretary of State for Germany, and Scott and Bates, to which Crowe and Phelps were added as advisers.

The committee was also entrusted with the work of settling on a form of government at Apia. It is rumored that the plan agreed upon is that America, Germany and England shall each appoint a representative and that three more members of the Board of Control shall be chosen by the ratepayers. No liquor shall be sold to natives, though foreigners can have their stores as they choose in their private houses. Firearms are only to be sold to the Government, and then only under certain restrictions, which prevent their use except for keeping the peace. The plan for giving the Samoans a revenue has also been devised, which provides for the re-establishment of their right to impose import and export duties, which right is taken from them by the existing Samoan treaty.

The stay of the American Commissioners in Berlin is being made very pleasant. They are overwhelmed with social attentions from distinguished residents. One of the pleasantest incidents which has occurred was a call they made on Prince Bismarck at his request, which was a special mark of consideration, as the Prince, being in feeble health, rarely goes out or receives any one.

To a representative of the Associated Press Mr. Phelps said:

"The proceedings of the conference I cannot disclose, but I may say through you to America that nothing is interfering with the successful conclusion of our labors but the cry of the European press that Germany is giving up everything. This charge is persistently made and is naturally irritating to our co-laborers. Moreover, it is not true, for mutual concessions have been made. Germany is more willing than America to do anything that would insure Samoan independence and give the natives a better chance. This is the prime impulse of the German, as well as the American delegation."

A later dispatch says: From certain indications at the rooms of the American delegates, as well as at the quarters of the English Commissioners and at the German Foreign Office, it is evident that there is some serious hitch in the negotiations of the Samoan Commission.

Both the German and English commissioners refuse to talk of the subject, but it is learned from other sources that the United States Government has instructed the commissioners to insist upon the return of Malietoa as king. A message is said to have been received from Secretary Blaine directing the commissioners to insist upon the restoration of the status quo ante, and saying Germany deposed Malietoa as king and must return him as king. They may haggle about indemnity or a single or dual or tripartite government if they please, but Malietoa must be king.

While the Germans have come to agree with all the other views of the American commissioners they are reluctant to accept this condition, and point to the fact that Malietoa was pardoned by the German Emperor at the beginning of the conference. This, they claim, should satisfy America.

The special correspondent of the Associated Press was informed later that Germany has finally consented to restore King Malietoa. This action was taken after the prolonged and persistent efforts of the American commissioners.
